THE BALKAN OUTBREAK.

GREECE CONTINUES TROOP MOVEMENTS.

NOTE TO ALLIES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 30.

Greek troops continue to land at Rodosto, 25,000 having arrived up to the present. A Greek patrol entered a neutral zone and was repulsed by Turkish gendarmes after a short fusillade.

PARIS, July 30.

An Athens message says the British Charge d'Affaires made representations to the Government regarding the plan of advance upon Constantinople.

IONIAN AUTONOMY.

ATHENS, July 30.

It is understood that the Government's decisions contained in a note to the Allies will not be executed at present. Autonomy for Ionian with extensive self Government will be proclaimed to-day.

THE GREEK NOTE.

Greek note to the Allies declares that by neutralizing Constantinople the Allies will be protecting instead of coercing Turkey and depriving Greece of the means of imposing peace. A continuance of the present situation is encouraging the Turks to exterminate Christians. The Greek occupation of Constantinople only means the bringing about of peace. Greece has made arrangements for that purpose and begs the Allies to give the army of occupation the necessary orders. General Harrington's declaration that he will forcibly oppose any move against Constantinople has caused a deep

AMERICAN EQUITY DECISION.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

New York, July 30.

An important ruling in an equity case by a company which purchased a German concern from the Alien Property Custodian has been given. Federal Judge Hand in giving his decision declared that the deed from the Custodian transferring the seized property of a German corporation to another corporation could after the war neither control the seized concerns' goodwill nor prevent it resuming business in its own name and seeking trade from its former customers.

IRISH MATTERS.

LONDON, July 30.

General Duffy in statements says he is well pleased with the progress made by the troops. East and West Lincolns have been cleared from Malague to the Tipperary border. A number of fresh places have been occupied and the rout of the Irregulars is pretty complete.

impression in Athens. The cabinet sat for three hours yesterday. Paris newspapers state that Metaxas, the Greek Charge d'Affaires yesterday handed the French Government the Greek note which affirms that Greece will not act without the consent of the Allies. Its requests were immediately refused. There is reason to believe that the same reply will be given by London and Rome.

SOLD AS SLAVE.

BRITISH DOCTOR SEIZED BY ARABS.

Capt. Tillson Lever Harrison, who formerly served with the R.A.M.C. in Palestine, has been the victim of a singular adventure at the hands of Arabs in the hills beyond Hammam Melouane, a village about 58 miles south of Algiers.

Capt. Harrison, according to his statements, arrived at Hammam Melouane in the British steamship "Constantinople" on his way to Canada via New York. While the ship was in port he appears to have gone on shore, during which time the vessel sailed without him. He thereupon left Algiers on foot, and after passing through the village of Hammam Melouane he came to a ravine where he fell in with two Arabs, who said that they were brothers and that if he went with them to their house he would be welcome.

After climbing the mountains for longer than two hours the party arrived at a place where there were a few isolated huts, one of which they went into and Capt. Harrison was given food. Later on the two brothers, after having told him to sleep there, left him.

During the night he was awakened by the arrival of six other Arabs, who ordered him out of the hut. He was taken away to a place where, after beating him and stealing his belongings, Arabs tied him to a tree with his hands secured behind his back. By this time several natives had arrived from the surrounding hills, and a paw wow was held, as the result of which he was untied from the tree and handed over to an Arab, who gave him to understand that he had been sold as a slave and that he had become his property for 12 years.

Capt. Harrison was forced to accompany his new master to his house, where upon their arrival the man's wife made such a fuss that he was obliged to take his newly acquired "slave" back to the "paw wow." The chief of the aggressors became furious and belaboured Capt. Harrison heavily with a stick and tied him up to a tree again.

Finally, the two brothers came to the rescue and released him. One of them took him to the village at the foot of the mountain, where he was fortunate enough to run across a French Government official who happened to be visiting the locality on official business. After listening to Capt. Harrison's story, the accuracy of which has been established, the official accompanied him back to Algiers.

As the result of the prompt action of local authorities the Arabs concerned have been arrested. Capt. Harrison's belongings, which were taken from him, have been recovered.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

ENTIRE BUILDING MAY BE WHITEWASHED.

Attention was called to the Daily News recently to the proposal made by the Builder that Westminster Abbey should be limewashed, and it is now possible that this will be done.

There need, however, be no alarm among people with back walls and stables in mind, at the prospect. Three pinnacles of the Henry VII. Chapel have already been whitewashed, and in the opinion of experts the experiment is, from every point of view, a great success.

A Daily News reporter went with Mr. E. E. Lofting, the assistant surveyor, to see the whitewashed pinnacles. One of them was treated with the limewash two months ago, and the other two a fortnight ago.

The two latter give the pinnacle the appearance of having been rebuilt with new stone. The other pinnacle has toned down to a pleasant grey. The three stand out in striking contrast to the others. Every delicacy of the stone carving is prominently revealed, light and shade effects are visible, and the beauty of the stone work is made clear.

It is questionable whether the wonderful detail of the Abbey is ever appreciated by the ordinary visitor, for layers of black soot rob the fabric of its lights and shades, and hide the delicacy of the work. The whitewash remedies these disadvantages.

SURVEYOR IN FAVOUR.

"I cannot yet say whether the whole of the Abbey will be treated," said Mr. Lofting. "Professor Leathaby, the surveyor of the fabric, is in favour, and there is no reason why public opinion should be hostile. In the Little Cloisters we have treated the stone work with white-wash and it makes a great improvement. At present the carbonic acid causes blisters and decay."

The north transept, for instance, restored only about 30 years ago, is showing signs of decay. Of course we use preservatives for the stone, and some good laboratory work is being done in the hope of finding an even more reliable one. But one needs to be very careful.

Many years ago someone used a preservative for stone sculptures in the cloisters, and the result is that they have now quite decayed.

We are often replacing old stone with new, and this gives the Abbey a patchy effect. While we have the scaffolding up to put in new stone we should like to whitewash the whole. This would remove the patchy effect, and would preserve the stone. Whitewash is at present one of the best preservatives there is. It is clean, it helps to make the place beautiful, and the ancient record show that it was constantly used in the cloisters.

We realise that the Abbey is a national treasure, and we want to do

PLAYING AT HOUDINI.

BOY IMPRISONED IN MILK CHURN.

To the amazement of the doctor and nurses on duty, a milk-churn in the receiving room of the London Hospital, Whitechapel, E., late one night "There's a boy inside. We've tried to get him out, and we can't, so we've brought him round here," explained one of the men who brought it. The doctor and his assistants rose nobly to the occasion. By the use of their more robust operating-instruments they cut away the metal sufficiently to allow the prisoner to get out.

Sydney Weinberg, a slight 9-years-old boy, of 37, Underwood-street, Whitechapel, described to a Daily Mail reporter how he had spent 34 hours in his strange prison.

With some friends, he was imitating the tricks of Houdini, who in one of his tricks is locked in a water filled milk-churn.

"We got in to see who could stay in longest," said Sydney—"and I won."

"The lid was put on, and another boy hit on it with a stick to count the time. He knocked on the top 300 times—and then I tried to get out."

"I couldn't move, and the other boys tried to help me."

At this juncture the whole of Underwood-street, where the milk-churn was standing, entered into the business of extricating Sydney, which lasted from 8.30 till 11.30.

The churn was turned upside down—but Sydney still stuck tight. It was liberally greased inside, much of the grease going on to Sydney. Carpenters and plumbers all lent a friendly hand, and the top of the churn was removed by a gas fitter neighbour. But all without success.

Now that he is at last free, Sydney has decided not to play at Houdini any more.

The Fire Engine ordered by the Canton Fire Association through a certain German firm has reached here on the 27th instant.

The typhoon caused a great deal of damage in Yang Kang. The sufferers are looking forward for help from abroad. Many of the charitable Associations of the district are contributing funds to the aid of the sufferers.

nothing that will hurt people's susceptibilities, but I think if they know the facts, and saw the result, every one would agree with the experts. Mr. Lofting added that the fabric would need to have new coats of limewash every four or five years, and that much of the work could be done from ladders.

LAWN TENNIS.

FROM THE TIME OF HENRY VIII.Dean Inge has been telling us that the Victorian days produced much greater interest in the present
From the playing lawn tennis point of view, this is not, of course, true, in epitome of the murmurings of those people who can see nothing good in anything that did not happen fifty years ago, writes Hubert Winter in the Sunday Express.Ninety-nine lawn tennis players out of a hundred, if asked who invented lawn tennis, would be unable to reply.
The hundredth might vaguely surmise that it was a person named Wingfield, but when or how would be utterly beyond them.Lawn tennis, of course, derives immediately from tennis, now often colloquially, for purposes of distinction, real or royal tennis. This game can be traced back, in France, to the thirteenth century, and was played by the Kings of England in Tudor times. Henry VIII. was particularly keen on it, and built the court at Hampton Court, which is still used regularly.As we all know, Henry VIII. was much inclined to embonpoint, and the chroniclers state that the labour of serving was too much for him and that, consequently, he paid men to do it for him, and just carried on in the rallies. Bluff King Hal had a drastic way with him at times, and what happened to his employees when they served many faults does not bear thinking of.Real tennis is a terribly complicated game, and many of the terms used in it would sound like Greek to the average lawn tennis player, but the scoring in real tennis and lawn tennis are exactly the same.

CRINOLINES AND CROQUET.

Major Wingfield had probably played real tennis, or, at any rate, was well acquainted with it. He thought that this complicated indoor game could be well adapted, in a simplified form, for outdoor purposes, and so, in 1873, when croquet represented despicable doings as far as women were concerned, when crinolines were the correct wear, when gentlemen were whiskers which must have frequently become entangled in their mallets, and when Dean Inge's great men flourished, Major Wingfield invented a game called Sphairi-stika, which, though it differed in many respects from lawn tennis as now played, was, without any shadowof doubt, the foundation of the game.
When he thought out Sphairistike —this, to our eyes quaint game, with its court shaped like an hour-glass and its service from one side only—old Major Wingfield could never have imagined what a wonderful thing he was doing for countless thousands of people who were to live after him, what health and happiness he would eventually be responsible for. Old Major Wingfield "budded far better than he knew."Next year will be the jubilee of Sphairistike, which was the legitimate mother of lawn tennis. I think that the occasion should not pass without some tribute to the memory of the man who was directly responsible for a game which is the most international of all games.The All-England Lawn Tennis Club are opening this summer a magnificent ground, fully worthy of a great game.
I have been over this ground, but nowhere can I find any tribute to the man without whom this magnificent ground would not have been. The omission, I think, is a grave and an ungrateful one.

SPANISH PROVERBS.

I feel sure that the countless thousands who have derived pleasure and health from lawn tennis will think as I do. A very small sum would be sufficient to erect some memorial to one who can, in the fullest sense of the words, be described as a real benefactor to the world. I present the idea to the earnest consideration of the All-England Club and the Lawn Tennis Association. We have had little on which to plume ourselves in connection with the world's hard court championships at Brussels. The strongest British representative, F.
Gordon Lowe, was put out in an early round by the Spaniard E. Flaqueur, and we have had no say in the men's singles. It does not seem at present that there is much likelihood of our regaining our once predominant position in international lawn tennis for some time. We have sunk into a slough from which it is not easy to emerge, but that we shall eventually do so I have little doubt.One of the most remarkable things in lawn tennis is the rise of Spain.
They have taken to the game like ducks to water. They are very recent converts to the Davis Cup, but it will be surprising if they do not reach the final this year.In Manuel Alonso they have a great player and I am told that he has been doing magnificently at Brussels. The Spaniards, I believe, play almost entirely on hard courts, and must have a very true surface to do themselves real justice. A wet Wimbledon would affect their game considerably, but on a dry, hard surface Manuel Alonso is expected to go far.

MISS VICTORIA MONKS.

MUSIC HALL ARTIST AS DIVORCE CO-RESPONDENT.Miss Victoria Monks, the music hall artist was cited as co respondent to the petition brought in the Divorce Court by Mrs. Lil Simons, who was granted a decree against her husband Abraham Simons, who is a present undergoing a sentence of penal servitude in connection with the theft of jewellery.It will be recalled that Miss Monks was charged with Simons and acquitted.Mr. Frampton appeared for the petitioner, who said she was married at a London Synagogue on August 26, 1917, her maiden name being Cohen.
She lived with her husband at Stamford Hill, and there were two children of the marriage. Her husband lived with her till November, 1917, when he left without giving her any excuse.
She learned that he had joined the Army. In October, 1918, he came back and she forgave him and continued to live with him. In June, 1919, he left her again, and she heard nothing of him until she heard of his arrest on a charge of stealing jewellery in June, 1921.Miss Margaret Boosey said she was attending Miss Monks at Garrickstreet, when in December, 1920, she saw Simons at the house. She knew him as Arthur Simons. He stayed at the house, and witness had seen his pyjamas on Miss Monks' bed. Miss Monks had told her he had slept with her. They went from Garrick-street to Miss Monks' bungalow at Shoreham.

PAINFUL JOINTS

In no disease does the blood become thin so rapidly as in rheumatism. Not only does it become thin but it is loaded with impurities—the rheumatic poisons.
Without proper treatment these poisons increase, the joints inflame and swell and the patient becomes a cripple.The only sure method of methods of treating rheumatism, most of them aiming to keep down the rheumatic poisons until nature can build up the blood sufficiently to overcome them. But unfavourable conditions of cold or dampness may give the disease the advantage and a relapse or renewed attack follows.Good, healthy blood increases the resistance to disease. It is easier to keep up this resistance by taking Dr.

THE OLDEST FREEMASON.

It is believed that at last the quest for the oldest Freemason in the world has been rewarded with success. Dr.
Joseph S. Halstead, who completed his 104th years in March 4, and who lives with his wife aged ninety-three, at the village of Breckenridge, Missouri, U.S.A., has proved his initiation in the Lexington Lodge 1 in 1842 of which he is still a subscribing member.
Dr. Halstead graduated in 1840 and practised medicine until 1860, when he retired. For several years he was the family physician of Henry Clay.
The farm which he occupies has had but four owners—the King of Spain, Napoleon Buonaparte, the U.S.A.
Government, and himself. Dr. Halstead has eighty living descendants, and his birthday, is observed annually as a general holiday in Breckenridge.

TRUTH, JUSTICE, PUBLIC SERVICE.

HONGKONG MONDAY, JULY 31, 1932

WHEN JERRY COMES.

The China Mail was and is quite willing to let the people of Hongkong decide their own attitude towards such Germans as may return to the Colony, now that the extraordinary bar is withdrawn by order of the Government at home. When the point arose, we did not preach either love or hate. The first, even among our pseudo Christians, would have been, "waste of time. The second would have seemed to us sinful. Personally, we would regard it as a bore to spend the rest of our life trying to remember that there are people we ought to hate; and if we were patriotically persuaded to try, our hate would be a pretence, anyway. Such emotions wear thin in time, by a natural process. We appear to have amongst us in our community fervent and persistent haters of the Germans. Apper is the right word. It is only an appearance. In short, and quite plainly, it is a pose. These people imagine they are cutting a fine figure by pretending to persist in their peeve. They think they thereby demonstrate principle and patriotism. It is a bid for admiration. It is a noteworthy and significant fact that they are not usually ex-active service men. These men, who helped to strafe Jerry while he deserved it, do not continue to strafe a beaten foe. They are what is called chivalrous. It is a trait of nearly all soldiers. Once even civilian Englishmen were, as a race, given credit for being chivalrous. Some of us try to maintain the tradition, but we are pathetically thwarted by these professional haters. Even in war time we laughed at Jerry's "hymn of hate." May we not, in peace, laugh at our own hymns? Laugh them, if we can, into a shamed silence! However, let us grant the possibility that there is a debatable element in what has so far been said. Let us, if you like, leave it for the present an open question. There is, it seems to us, nothing debatable or open about a proposition in a letter recently appearing in a contemporary. The writer of this letter, after reminding us of various German atrocities in war time, claims that it is our duty to hold every German personally responsible for them. That is really as it is wicked. It is absolutely untenable. It applies to every German child born since the armistice. It applies to every German revolutionary and rebel who may have hated Prussianism. It involves the painful reflection that we may be held personally responsible for things done by officials whom we had no voice in appointing and over whose conduct we had no control. A Chinese hater of the type could hate us in individually for things that happened before we came to China, even before we were born. It is absurdly unjust. It is the utterance of a childish tantrum, the opinion of an angry fool. We repudiate it; we utterly condemn it. When Jerry comes, we shall shake hands with him if you feel that way. You may even, like the self advertising stuntist Lord Northcliffe, seek to extract popularity by bringing it. But do not pretend that you have any right to hold a peaceful German personally responsible for the doings of his former war lords. Do not, in short, (and it is for your own good that we speak so plainly) make an ass of yourself, as this letter-writer has done.

BLAND'S BLAGUE.

When a man has made himself notorious for a certain prejudice, it is not to be expected that he will be taken seriously, nor that every time he ventilates his prejudices he must be taken notice of. Mr. J. O. P. Bland's objections in The Times to British attempts to raise the standard of education in China were a case of this kind. We had proposed to ignore him, only that our esteemed contemporary the Daily Press gave his blague a considerable amount of space on Saturday. Our contemporary showed fairly successfully the illogicality of the former secretary of the Shanghai Municipality, and very effectively pointed out that Mr. Bland's views and those of the Associated Chambers of Commerce are opposed. Unfortunately, it seems to us, by reason of kindred prejudice, to have slipped into one or two puddles of unreason itself. Why make such a point of the fact, if it is a fact, that China (in some one year unstated) is spending 100 millions on military purposes against 64 millions for education? What about our own? Such outrageous proportions are not unfamiliar outside China, and with less excuse than China has just now, in the throes of an uncompleted revolution. The attitude towards education of Chinese generally, in normal times, is well known and quite admirable. Mr. Bland somewhat tactlessly emphasised the point that in anything we do for education out here we are animated by the motive and the hope of improving our own trade, and his argument was that such hope was ill-founded. In effect, he was telling us that we needn't do good because, we would not get the reward we were counting on. He instanced the unpopularity of the Japanese in China, although they have been great educators of Chinese youth. The Daily Press naively accepted this position, and argued that in spite of their unpopularity the Japanese had captured a big share of the China trade. Throughout, both in Bland and in Press, there were references to the "libelhood or unlibelhood of Chinese 'gratitude' to the Foreign Power that should give it educational facilities. It does not seem to have occurred to any of them that to claim 'gratitude' for something done with an avowedly selfish motive is unreasonable; and that the Chinese have a sense of humour. Incidentally, it should have been pointed out that the unpopularity of the Japanese in China is not due to Japanese educational contributions but to other and very different activities. Canton does not hate Hongkong because of our University but because of other things. In these and in other little ways, we were not too well satisfied with the way the Bland blague was handled. But then, in our opinion, far too much notice is taken of Mr. J. O. P. Bland anyway.

OBITUARY.

MRS. G. T. KNIGHT.

The death occurred at the Mathilda Hospital early yesterday morning, after an illness extending over a year, of Mrs. Knight, wife of Mr. George T. Knight, of the Army Ordnance Department.

The deceased came out with her husband from Devonport 14 years ago, and had made a large number of friends here during that period. She was for some time employed at Messrs Lane, Crawford and Company and was up to the time of her illness a prominent member of the Wesleyan Church. Mrs. Knight had rendered good services in Church work and will be greatly missed.

The deepest sympathy is felt for Mr. Knight in his bereavement. There is no family.

The funeral passes the Monument at 5 p.m., to-day.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Among the passengers who arrived by the "President Grant" were Mr. T. Gunn, Mr. Francis O. Seidle, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller.

The s.s. "Haiman" left Hoibow on July 27 and encountered a gale on the way up. She took shelter at St. John's Island. The Hok Canton from Kwongchowwau also ran into a typhoon.

Two Chinese who ventured on board the s.s. "Van Overstraten" while the Police flag was flying, were fined $20.00 by Commander C. W. Beckwith at the Marine Court this morning.

A Chinese living at No. 118, Queen's Road East, 3rd floor, has reported that his flat was entered between 3 and 10 a.m., yesterday, and jewellery and money worth $187 stolen from a locked chest of drawers.

The P. & O. s.s. "Kashgar" sailed for home on Sunday, her passengers including Lady and Miss Fraser, from Shanghai, Capt. and Mrs. N. E. V. Kynaston, Mr. T. Slater, Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, Insp. J. Watt and Mr. J. G. Davies.

The N. O. Daily Mail publishes the following: At a dance given for sailors at Weikowai a few days ago, an attractive young Shanghai lady danced twice running with a red-haired sailor. Later she danced with one of his shipmates, who before starting the dance, said to her:—"I 'opes you know, Miss, but that there ginger-headed bloke, 'e's married."

Mrs. M. Ward of the Dragon Motor Garage, residing at No. 28, Nathan Road, was awakened at 3.15 this morning by the noise made by someone attempting to break open the front door of the house. She immediately went to the verandah and saw two men outside the house. Mrs. Ward blew a police whistle and becoming frightened, the men bolted. She suspects a driver and a clerk of the garage who had been recently dismissed.

G. O. C. SUBD.

$600-DAMAGES CLAIMED.

MOTOR COLLISION, SEQUEL.

Major General Sir John Fowler K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O., General Officer Commanding the Troops in China, was the defendant in an action brought in the Summary Court before the acting Puisne Judge (Mr. J. R. Wood) this morning by Mr. U. Sze Wing. Mr. U. claimed $600 damages from the General for the alleged negligence of the latter's chauffeur and the General counter-claimed $127 for the alleged negligence of Mr. U's chauffeur.

The D.A.A. and Q.M.G., Lieut-Col. W. N. Nicholson appeared in Court to represent Major General Fowler whose case was conducted by Mr. H. MacNamara (Deacon, Looker, Deacon and Harston). Opening the plaintiff's case Mr. C. A. S. Russ (Lee and Russ) said that Mr. U owned a seven-seater Buick in which he was riding along the road to Deepwater Bay with his family on May 31. When rounding a corner near Aberdeen his car collided with defendant's car and was much damaged. It was dashed against a cliff and several witnesses would be called to prove that it was the fault of the defendant's driver in coming up the middle of the road instead of keeping to the left as they (the plaintiff) were doing. Negligence was alleged against the defendant in respect of (1) excessive speed; (2) failure to sound his horn; (3) failure to get out of the way of plaintiff's car; (4) being on the wrong side of the road.

In reply, the defendant alleged negligence against the plaintiff in respect of (1) excessive speed and (2) being on the wrong side of the road. Evidence for the plaintiff was still being called when this edition went to press. It was mentioned during the hearing that Lieut-Col. Nicholson was using the General's car at the time of the accident.

MURDER OF MR. CHAN TAT SANG.

ARRESTED MAN RELEASED.

The young seaman, Leung Hoo, who was held by the police in connection with the murder of Mr. Chan Tat-sang, Director of Public Works at Canton, on three charges (1) shooting at Chan Tat-sang with intent to kill; (2) shooting at an Indian constable with intent to kill; and (3) murder of Chan Tat-sang, was again before Mr. E. W. Hamilton this morning, when the police withdrew all the charges against him, and he was discharged.

The defendant who was arrested by an Indian constable a little distance from the scene of the murder, a few minutes after the shooting, was originally charged with the first two counts, and ultimately the capital charge was brought against him after Chan Tat-sang's death at the Government Civil Hospital.

This morning Detective Sub-Inspector Pinnett said that he had been instructed by the Captain Superintendent of Police to apply for the defendant's discharge as at present in the country and could not be got to come down to give evidence. The defendant was represented by Mr. A. E. Hall; while Mr. G. R. Hayward appeared for the relatives of the deceased.

BUSY BURGLARS.

AN UNLUCKY HOUSE.

Two burglaries on consecutive nights, when nearly $700 worth of property was stolen, was the experience of the occupants of the ground floor of No. 6, Fife Street, Yau-mat, during the week-end.

The first burglary was committed on Saturday night, when, according to one of the occupants of the house, Wong Hiechoong, a match factory workman, a quantity of clothing and jewellery worth $349 was stolen from the house. No one in the house was disturbed by the burglar. The loss was not discovered until the morning. The burglary must have been committed after 1 o'clock as the inmates of the house had sat up late playing machouk and did not retire until after 12.30.

The second burglary occurred last night. Wong Chong-wah, another occupant of the house, reports that he had occasion to go to the kitchen at 5.30 a.m., and to his surprise found that the back door had been forced open. He immediately called up the other inmates and a search revealed that various boxes had been broken open and another $111 worth of clothing and jewellery stolen.

"DOMESTIC TENEMENT."

WHAT IS ONE?

IMPORTANT RENTS DECISION.

WIN FOR FRENCH MISSION.

The proper definition of the term "domestic tenement" which appears in the local Rents Ordinance and which has proved a particular tough legal nut to crack in several actions brought under the measure was discussed by the Chief Justice (Sir William Rees Davies K.C.) in the Supreme Court today when giving judgment in favour of the French Procurator General in Hongkong who sued the Nanyang Bros. Tobacco Co., Ltd., of 105, Des Voeux Road West.

By their claim plaintiffs sought to recover possession of that portion of Section of Inland lot No. 2147 previously leased to the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China by the plaintiffs under Lease dated 1st June 1918 which lease expired on the 31st August last, the defendants being sub-lessees of the said Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, on the ground that such premises do not come within the Rents Ordinance 1921.

(b) To recover possession of such portion of the premises, as is not now occupied by defendant's servants for domestic purposes under Section 15 of Ordinance No. 13 of 1921.

(c) To fix such Rent as the Court shall think fit as the rent to be paid by the defendants for that portion occupied by the defendants' servants for domestic purposes.

(d) Damages at the rate of double the yearly value of the whole of the said premises during the period of detention by virtue of 4, Geo. 2C. 28.

(e) Alternatively to fix such other rent than the standard rent as the Court shall think fit as the rent to be paid in respect of the whole of the premises referred to in (a) during the continuance of the Rents Ordinance 1921.

The case involved the construction of the Rents Ordinance and at one phase of the case considerable stress was laid on the fact that in the building were nine beds. The plaintiffs contended that the presence of these beds could not bring the factory within the definition of a "domestic tenement." The case lasted over some days during which time the premises were inspected by the Court.

Counsel in the case were Messrs. Eldon Potter and F. C. Jenkin (instructed by Mr. W. E. L. Sheaton, Messrs. Deacon, Looker Deacon and Harston) for the plaintiffs and Mr. C. G. Alabaster, (instructed by Mr. W. B. Hind of Messrs. G. K. Hall, Bruton and Co.) for the defendants.

THE JUDGMENT.

Giving his judgment this morning His Lordship said that the main issues were—

(a) Whether, at the date of the issue of the writ, there was a specifically enforceable agreement between the parties to lease the premises or any portion thereof and if so at what rent, for what period and upon what conditions generally?

(b) Whether the premises came within the Rents Ordinance 1921.

The defendants case was, His Lordship proceeded to point out, that they claimed specific performance of the agreement for a new lease which was embodied in certain letters and which, in so far as the agreement for the further lease was concerned, was not affected by the Ordinance. But they said further that their premises "were used in part for human habitation" by workmen employed by them and that they were a domestic tenement within the meaning of the Rents Ordinance 1921; which was passed after the agreement was entered into, and they claimed the benefits of that Ordinance.

In His Lordship's opinion the defendants were entitled to specific performance of the agreement. The question of their position under the Rents Ordinance was another matter. The agreement as embodied in the letters was clear and unambiguous and provided for the payment of a rent of $48,000 a year, which was a reduction from $50,000 upon the condition that the defendants said the rates. The agreement was not affected by the Ordinance which regulated the amount recoverable in cases coming within the Ordinance. The plaintiffs as a fact did not, they stated in argument, contest the enforcement of the agreement, notwithstanding their letter repudiating it but they resisted the defendants' claim to come within the Rents Ordinance.

Discussing the construction of the Rents Ordinance and comparing it with the Home Act His Lordship said that a "domestic tenement" was defined in the Ordinance to include every bed-space, cubicle, room, portion of a floor, floor or building which is the subject of a separate letting and which is used wholly or in part for human habitation." It was admitted by both sides that it was customary for the Chinese population

LOCAL STRIKE.

THE CARGO BOATS.

Negotiations in the cargomen's dispute continued this morning but no further progress has been made.

to the ground floor of a building as a shop and the upper floor for living or domestic purposes. Mr. Bird had said in his evidence that this was the case with the great majority of Chinese houses.

"Then what" asked His Lordship "is the construction to be placed on the words 'in part for human habitation' in the definition? The defendants maintain that those are the substantial words on which their position is based. They say that the definition comprises a bed space, a cubicle. A room, a portion of a floor, floor or building, any of which is the subject of a separate letting and which is used wholly or in part for human habitation." They contended that there came within the definition if there is a bona fide human habitation and that the sleeping accommodation provided for their employees brings them within the meaning of the definition. The plaintiffs on the other hand say that the words must be construed to apply to residential houses or buildings i.e. houses or buildings which are substantially used as a residence.

"I think therefore that in considering the definition" His Lordship went on to state "I have to ask myself whether in this emergency Ordinance passed to deal with an abnormal state of affairs because of a great shortage in housing accommodation in the Colony, the Legislature could have contemplated to bring within the purview of such an Ordinance godowns used for the purpose of a tobacco factory because some twenty employees of the Company slept in those cubicles or bed spaces on the godown premises? Is the occupier of such cubicles a user in 'part for human habitation' within the meaning of the Ordinance? The answer to the question, in my opinion is in the negative."

After quoting Lord Selbourne on the interpretation of statutes His Lordship continued: "Once conceded then that the intention of the Legislature was to protect the domestic user, as distinct from the business or trade user are not the words of the definition 'or in part for human habitation' sufficiently pliable to admit of another construction by which the intention of the legislature will be better effectuated by applying it to tenements, probably mainly Chinese which are used in part as a shop and in part for domestic or living purposes? Such a construction, while not defeating the apparent intention of the Ordinance, would make provision for the dual class of tenement to which I have alluded."

"The words are not easy of construction and each case must be decided on the circumstances attaching to it and I am entitled to put myself in the position of the legislature at the time the Ordinance was passed in order to see what was the state of knowledge, what were the circumstances before the legislature and what it was the legislature was aiming at. I have already alluded to the general circumstances brought before the legislature and would not 'their state of knowledge' require the considering of the combined dwelling and shop tenement which is spoken of in the evidence of Mr. Bird who says: 'The great majority of Chinese shops have a shop on the ground floor and the upper floor used for domestic purposes'."

"In any event" concluded His Lordship, "I am unable to place the construction which Mr. Alabaster's able argument invites me to do. In the view which I take of the intention and scope of the Ordinance to hold that a few employees sleeping on a godown premises give these premises the benefit of the Ordinance would, in my opinion, entirely defeat the aim at which the legislation was directed. The conclusion at which I have arrived on the point of construction disposes of the case and it is unnecessary to deal with the other issues."

Judgment was accordingly entered for the plaintiffs, the question of costs being, at the request of counsel, reserved for argument in Chambers.

CHINESE POLITICS.

THE PREMIER NOMINATION.

SHANGHAI, July 30.

According to a Peking message it is unofficially reported that Yen is applying for leave, which is expected owing to the probability of Li Kuan Hung nominating Tang Shao Yi for the Premiership and the general uncertainty of the political situation in view of the impending opening of Parliament.—Reuter.

NORTHCLIFFE'S HEALTH.

DENBY IN MANILA.

MANILA, July 31.

Mr. Denby arrived this morning aboard the transport "Henderson" from Olongapo, which he inspected yesterday. He was welcomed by General Leonard Wood, and military and navy officials at the pier and drove to Malacanang escorted by troops.

EXTRAORDINARY SUICIDE.

Found dead in the Sham Man Timber Yard, Cook Street, Yau-mat, with a piece of string tied tightly round the neck, and the ends held firmly in the hands, as if he had strangled himself, the body of a Chinese, aged about 40 years, was yesterday removed to the Kowloon mortuary. Here it was identified as the remains of a man named Tsai Kam of No. 23, Bulkeley Street who had been reported missing from his home three days ago. According to the deceased's wife, he was a heavy opium smoker and had been out work for some months. Having no money with which to satisfy his craving for the drug, it is thought the man had taken his own life in a fit of desperation.

CREDITORS RAID NEWS-PAPER.

Following, it is stated, the appearance in the paper of an advertisement hinting at financial difficulties, the offices of the Hongkong Sin Po, in Jervois Street, were rushed by about twenty creditors at 4.30 yesterday afternoon. Suspecting robbers, the proprietors on the first floor put up a stiff fight against the intruders with such effect that the Editorial Staff on the second floor, whom the intruders were really after, were able to make their escape. Police whistles were blown and the intruders made off.

EIGHT PIGS STOLEN.

FARMER'S STY BROKEN INTO.

Lo Kiu, a farmer's wife, living in Matsunai village, has reported to the police that someone had broken the back wall of her pig sty during Friday night and stolen eight pigs worth $73. When she was feeding the pigs at 6 p.m. on Friday, the wall was intact, but when she visited the sty at 6 o'clock on Saturday morning, a big hole had been broken in the wall and all the pigs were gone.

H.K. HOTEL DEFRAUDED. EUROPEAN SENT TO PRISON.

Found guilty by Magistrate Hamilton of a charge of obtaining by false pretences, board and lodging and an advance of money, from the Hongkong Hotel Co., Ltd., Herbert G. Roberts, was sent to prison for a month at the Magistrate's court on Saturday.

Against the accused, who described himself as a cashier in the Netherlands Trading Society, Singapore, it was alleged that he obtained accommodation and a money advance amounting in all to $147.47, from the Hotel Co., on the pretence that on July 21st he would cash a draft. At a previous hearing defendant had said he had money due to him from the Chinese Customs and he thought also that he could obtain money from his brother-in-law at Singapore. To enable him to communicate with the parties mentioned the case was adjourned until Saturday. At this hearing Roberts admitted that he had written to neither Shanghai or Singapore, because he "didn't want to."

In giving his decision the Magistrate said: "After listening to this case I have come to the conclusion that the defendant took one night's board and lodging by fraud, and I consider his conduct in living in such an extravagant manner with little chance of getting the money, is extremely reprehensible. I do not think a man in the defendant's position really intended to defraud. He was very foolish, but I do not think he intended to defraud the Company; the whole time he was there I consider he defrauded the Company of one night's board and lodging. The defendant is fined $25 with the alternative of one month's imprisonment. The imprisonment to date from the Saturday of the previous week."

A WISEMAN WAITER. JAILED FOR STEALING.

At the Magistrate's court on Saturday, a table waiter at Wiseman's Cafe, was charged with larceny and assault.

The prosecution alleged that half a pound of sugar was found in the defendant's pocket by an Indian watchman on the night of July 27. It was reported to Mr. Goddell in the morning and the defendant was dismissed. After his dismissal, the defendant was alleged to have written a chit addressed to no particular person, which he left on a dinner wagon in the cafe. The chit contained a threat, the translation of which is: "What grudge had you against me during my former life, and why do you insult me during my present life? If I do not put you to death, I swear I will not live." Shortly after writing the chit, the defendant went outside the building and threw a stone at the watchman.

Defendant who had been at Wiseman's for about one month, said the No. 1 boy was not friendly towards him because he had refused to pay any squeeze money. For that reason he wished to have him dismissed so that he could give the job to another man who would give him "squeeze." Defendant alleged that the sugar had been "planted" on him, and that it was all a plot to get him out of his employment. He added, "The reason why I hung round the manager was that he refused to pay me."

Asked about the chit, defendant denied all knowledge of it, but later confessed that he had written it under provocation.

Magistrate: Oh! did you? You seem to be one of those young "gentlemen" who seem to think they can do what they like.

Defendant was convicted on both charges and sent to jail for one month on the charge of larceny; while a fine of $25 was imposed for the assault.

"STAR" SINGLES TRADE MARK CASE CONCLUDED.

Mr. E. W. Hamilton concluded the hearing on Saturday of the case in which a hawker was summoned by Messrs W. R. Loxley and Company for having infringed their "Star" trade mark on some singlets which the defendant was seen by a shroff of the complainant firm to be hawking in the streets. The shroff bought one of the singlets, after some bargaining, for 35 cents, which price when compared with Loxley's $1.75, showed clearly that the defendant's singlets were very inferior imitations of the real goods.

In giving his decision the Magistrate said that he was satisfied that an infringement had taken place, but he was very doubtful regarding the question of guilty knowledge, and therefore the defendant must be discharged. He ordered defendant's stock of singlets bearing the "Star" chop to be confiscated.

CORRESPONDENCE. PROVOKED BY OUR CHURCH NOTES.

(To the Editor of the "China Mail.")

Sir,—On reading the interesting article from the Daily Telegraph printed on your Church Notes page on Saturday, I observed again how markedly any propagandist argues in spite of himself (to the mind of the rational reader) against the cause he has at heart. Thus I always read the Bible when suffering from religious inconvenience and I generally or happily before writing home to my mother. That the Daily Telegraph for a moment intended to revive the flickering flame of Revolution in one whose enthusiasm was waning, I cannot believe. Yet such was the result on one at least of your readers. Particularly did the paragraph on Blasphemy appeal to me. I have always felt that the priest was acting as a bromide to the suffering classes, and here I found the perfectly rational view that if religion did not keep the people docile, "they would try a machine-gun." Surely this is not so obvious a fallacy, so patent an absurdity, as safely to be inserted without comment in an anti-revolutionary article? And when we see that of five "legislators" acting to suppress the communists two at least have names suggestive of the Semite, we are led to question whether they may not simply be capitalists aiming at the suppression of any opinions likely to endanger their dividends.

Further on in the article is an undetailed reference to "crude and irresponsible treatment of sex." Do these furry-brained fools mean anything but a view of sex to which they are unaccustomed? To me, anything tending to an attitude on sex matters less futile than the present popular one is pre-eminently desirable. In a world where nearly every man has his mistress, where marriage is but a social agreement to share names, where publicly mistresses, prostitution, concubinage and seduction are anathema while privately the sport of the majority, who are these that break their own law about throwing stones? Knowing something of the hobbies of our own ruling classes, may we not resent their hypocritical attitude to our own?

Yours faithfully,
A RESPECTABLY MARRIED MAN.
TOMBSTONE VERSES.

(To the Editor of the "China Mail.")

Sir,—Your "Adversarius" was not quite correct in his reference on Saturday to a local tombstone verse. It is on a woman's tombstone in the cemetery at Stanley, and reads as follows:

Women all as you pass by Just pause a while and think of me
As you are now so once was I
As I am now so you will be.
Prepare for death and follow me.
There is an exactly similar inscription on an old stone in Worth (Sussex) churchyard. The stone had lain buried for many years, and was discovered by the then Vicar of the parish some thirty odd years ago. The Vicar had it restored at his own expense and it is now one of the best known objects in the churchyard.

Yours etc.,
BONES.

WILL SOMEONE OBLIGE!

(To the Editor of the "China Mail.")

Sir,—Would you be good enough to inform me if electric fans can be successfully re-wound locally?

As you are doubtless aware, the Electric Company have been changing the voltage from 100 to 200 volts, and fans are being changed accordingly. Several friends of mine have had their fans re-wound but they all run about half speed. Before sending in my new fan I would like to have the above information.

Thanking you for any information you can give me.

Yours truly,
FIREZOR.

SUN FEELING THE PINCH. SHORT OF FOOD NOW.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen's warships at Pakmotani are now reported to have run short of provisions. On Saturday morning Sun sent a deputy ashore and he made big purchases from a Japanese firm, and attempted to deliver them to the "Winglung" by means of sampans many of which were willing to undertake the job in view of the tempting hire money offered. However, Secret Servicemen heard of the move just in time and seized all the provisions as they were being loaded in sampans.

ROBBING THE P. OR. CONTEMPTIBLE NIGHT MARAUDERS.

A Chinese widow living in an unnumbered hut at Malungkung, has reported to the police that armed robbers entered the place in the small hours of this morning and stole jewellery and clothing worth $34. She was awakened at 1.30 a.m., she said, by the noise of the door being broken open. As she got out of bed to investigate, four men, one armed with a dagger, and the other three carrying lighted torches rushed in. She called out but the man with the dagger pointed it at her and threatened to stab her if she offered any resistance. The other three men went into a cubicle in which the woman's daughter was sleeping, and ransacking the place, they broke open several boxes and stole all the valuables they could lay their hands on. The robbers stayed twenty minutes in the house and escaped in the direction of Tai-po.

SMUGGLED ARMS. A BIG HAUL.

The biggest haul of arms this year, was made by Captain M. M. Jensen of the s.s. "President Grant," last night.

The seizure, which had been handed over to the police, comprised 109 Mauser pistols, 9 Smith-Weston revolvers, 25 cleaning rods, 15,000 rounds of Mauser ammunition and 1,300 rounds of smokeless ammunition.

The contraband was discovered by the Captain in two cabins on the Sea Deck of the ship, and five Chinese, three of whom are seamen on the ship, who were caught in the act of lowering the arms through the portholes into two sampans, were arrested.

They were produced before Mr. R. E. Lindell this morning when after evidence had been heard they were remanded for a week.

Mr. A. E. Hall appeared for the defence.

E. A. S. M. A.
SUCCESSFUL SMOKING
CONCERT.

A popular and very successful smoking concert was arranged at the E. A. S. M. A. on Saturday night, when Lt. W. St. J. Malleon, V.C., the President, presided over a large attendance which included H. B. the Officer Administering the Government, Hon. Mr. Claud Severn, C.M.G., the Consul General for the United States, Mr. W. Holt Gale, Dr. C. Forsyth and the Vice-President, Mr. N. Teedale Mackintosh.

The evening's entertainment was preceded by the breaking of the triangle of pool balls by Dr. Forsyth, who has presented them to the Club. Then followed an excellent musical programme, contributed to by H. B. the Officer Administering the Government, Messrs. Pate son, E. T. Crocker, J. L. Pearson, Stott, Hutchinson, Drum Major McGeorge and Sgt. Bryan. Mr. Savage kept the company entertained with a number of conjuring tricks.

In the course of the evening's entertainment Mr. N. Teedale Mackintosh extended a hearty welcome to Lieut. Malleon on his return to the Colony and expressed thanks to the visitors and to others who had presented gifts to the club. He particularly mentioned the names of Dr. Forsyth, for his gift of pool balls; Mr. C. H. Lyson for pewter pots; Mr. Tom Wright and Mrs. Gordon for books; Mr. G. Mellis and Messrs. Sheriff Bros., for cups for the billiard tournament; Mr. Joseph for a donation of $500, and Mr. Ray for use of the Cornet Theatre for the preliminary meetings. Incidentally the Vice President remarked that the Club membership had increased to 300. Touching upon what he described as the more serious side of the situation, Mr. Teedale Mackintosh said they were getting more and more cases of men down on their luck and out of work who were coming to the Association for relief, and he appealed to the public to send to the Club any cast off clothes they were not in need of. Offering a word of welcome to the visitors, Mr. Mackintosh said they were all particularly pleased to see the American Consul (Mr. Holt Gale) with them. He was very glad that they had been able to take in as members of the Club all those men of the Allied forces, as well as of the British forces, who fought in the war. (Applause). He believed it was going to be a wonderfully good thing if they could get those Americans and Frenchmen who fought in the war to join the Club. "We may then," the Vice President humorously remarked, "be able to do some research work on our own, and tell posterity the real answer as to who did win the war." (Laughter and applause). Mr. Mackintosh, in conclusion, extended a very cordial welcome to His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government and thanked him for the great interest he had taken in the Association. (Applause).

The toast of the visitors was enthusiastically honoured. His Excellency in reply announced that, inspired by the example of these good friends Dr. Forsyth and Sir Paul Chater, it was his desire to "do some very good thing" for the Club. He had enjoyed the evening immensely and he hoped it would not be the last time he would be invited amongst them.

Mr. Holt Gale expressed his great pleasure in being present and his appreciation of the cordial welcome given him. He assured those present that his sympathies were entirely with the Club and he sincerely hoped that active service men of his own nationality would join. (Applause). Mr. E. H. Wilson, Chairman of the General Committee, expressed thanks to the artists for their kind services. The singing of the National Anthem brought the function to a close.

THE MASTER MARINER'S CERTIFICATE.

FURTHER HEARING OF FORGERY CHARGE AGAINST THOMSON.

The N. C. Daily News of July, 27 reports: The hearing of evidence for the Crown and on behalf of John Thomson, upon trial before his Honour Judge Peter Grain at H. M. Supreme Court, on a charge of forgery, was concluded at Shanghai on July, 26. Thomson is alleged to have forged and uttered a document purporting to be a master's licence issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce to masters of sailing ships of over 700 gross tonnage, contrary to Section 4 of the Forgery Act, 1913. The case, which arose out of proceedings begun at the U. S. Court six months ago when Thomson was thought to be of American nationality and has been followed with keen interest in shipping circles was adjourned until this morning when the jury will deliver their verdict.

Mr. A. G. Mossop, the acting Crown Advocate, is appearing for the prosecution and Mr. R. G. MacDonald is for Thomson.

With reference to an objection raised by the defence at the close of the first hearing as to the admission of certain evidence proposed by the prosecution, his Lordship said the only ground on which he could refuse such evidence would be if that evidence were wholly inadmissible and embarrassing to the prisoner's defence. His Lordship had read the evidence carefully. After what the Crown Advocate had said he (the learned Judge) felt that he could not rule that it was wholly inadmissible.

Mr. T. W. Bowers, ship broker, was then called. He said he met Thomson first in 1918. Thomson wanted to know whether witness required the services of a master. Later in Shanghai witness offered Thomson a position on the str. "Rotura" when she should arrive in port. The conversation took place in the Kalee Hotel, shortly before the arrival of the vessel. Thomson's appointment was to have been subject to the approval of the Yangtze Insurance Association. When the ship reached Shanghai and went into dry-dock to be surveyed by the Yangtze Insurance Co.'s surveyor, witness went to the dock with Thomson. He was introduced to Capt. Bayes. Davy who was told that the prisoner would be the "Rotura's" new master. Capt. Bayes Davy wanted to see Thomson's certificate before he took command. "I want to see your certificate before you sign on this vessel," said Capt. Bayes to Thomson, who replied, "Why do you want to see it? I will not show it to you. I will not show it to Mr. Jackson." Mr. Jackson was the manager of the Yangtze Insurance Assoc. at the time. Witness strongly advised Thomson to look for his certificate. He said he could not find it, but was still looking for the document. At last witness gave him a note to Mr. Sly, H. M. Shipping Vice Consul, requesting that he (Thomson) should be signed on the vessel as quickly as possible in the event of the certificate being produced.

WHAT HAPPENED AT THE CONSULATE.

Proceeding, Mr. Bowers described a visit he paid with Thomson to the Shipping Office. Witness had advised Thomson to find his certificate. It had, said Thomson, been lost on board the str. "Chefoo" during a typhoon when the deckhouse had been washed away, and with it all his private papers. "In that case," he was asked by witness, "how was it that you said you had your certificate at the Kalee Hotel?" That one, the prisoner answered, was a duplicate. He had applied for another. They went to see the Shipping Vice Consul on that afternoon. Thomson stated that he wished to report the loss of his certificate and to make out an affidavit to this effect. A clerk was instructed to draw up the necessary forms. On the following morning at the Shipping Office Thomson was asked to swear to the affidavit. He said: "I am not going to sign the forms," and muttered something which witness did not hear. Afterwards he sent Thomson a letter cancelling the appointment he was to have taken.

Cross examined by Mr. MacDonald, witness said he did not know that Thomson only had a mate's certificate. Counsel—As far as you were concerned you would have been perfectly willing for him to act as the master of the ship with only a mate's ticket? Witness—Providing the British Shipping Act would have permitted it.

Replying to a further question, witness said that the "Rotura's" tonnage was 600. Mr. Bowers disagreed with counsel's contention that Thomson was not to take on the master's licence of the vessel because it ought to have been condemned.

Answering the Crown Advocate the witness said the "Rotura" had never been condemned by the surveyors.

AN EXTRA MASTER'S CERTIFICATE.

Mr. E. A. H. Sly, formerly Shipping Vice Consul in Shanghai, said that on the second interview he had with the prisoner he produced a document signed by witness a predecessor in the Shipping Office. The document certified that Capt. John Thomson held a British extra master's certificate and that there was no objection to a Chinese master's certificate being issued to him. Thomson was asked why he had not renewed the lost certificate. Under the Merchant Shipping Act if a certificated officer lost his ticket he could obtain a certified copy of it by applying to the board which issued it. The document presented was made out in February, 1918. It was then April, 1919, so Thomson had had ample time to obtain the certified copy. That copy, Thomson said (as far as witness could recall) had been lost near Seattle. On May 1 Thomson said he had found his extra master's certificate. On being requested to show it to witness he (Thomson) returned the piece of paper which was invalid if he held the proper certificate. He questioned witnesses authority for asking him to show his certificate. A full report of the matter was then made to Sir Everard Fraser.

ACCUSED'S STORY.

Det. Sgt. Douglas, who gave evidence of arrest, and was the last witness for the prosecution, having been called, the prisoner went into the box. He recounted the story, given at the Police Court hearing of the case, of his visit to San Francisco, where he paid a dollar at the City Hall for some papers. Concerning the typhoon the str. "Chefoo" encountered while he was master on that ship Thomson declared that the vessel "was swept from stem to stern." She came into Hongkong with nothing but masts and funnel standing. He had lost most of his papers. He had never asked Mr. Bowers for a master's licence. Mr. Bowers had asked witness whether he would take the "Rotura" up river. He said he did not care about the job. The ship was old and witness did not think her fit for the northern trade. In the end, however, he accepted the mastership of the vessel.

Continuing his evidence relating to the visit to America, Thomson said that after leaving San Francisco with introductions to officials in the Shipping Board a Capt. Hibberd sent him with a clerk to the Naturalization Bureau. At the Bureau he saw Mr. Wilson. This gentleman winked at witness, and asked him if he knew any people in America. Witness replied that he did not. Afterwards when leaving the Bureau, the clerk said "Didn't you see him wink?" Witness said he had, but would not take any notice. He did not want to do anything irregular nor was he particular about becoming an American citizen. The next day Mr. Kennedy took him to the City Hall before a Judge. "The Judge said Mr. Kennedy had spoken of me as being all right," said Thomson. "We never went into open court. I never took an oath or signed the petition for naturalization, and was given what were supposed to be my naturalization papers."

Witness went to the Customs House in New York, whence he was sent to the Shipping Board. Here there were further interviews and witness was asked to take a ship to the Clyde.

HIS RETURN TO CHINA.

Asked how he became possessed of the licence in question, witness said he received it in an envelope which also enclosed a bit and a copy of U. S. Shipping Board Regulations. The envelope was placed in a pigeon hole at his hotel. "When he refused to take a ship to the Clyde he was told that the authorities 'wanted salt water men.' They were getting 'men from the mill,' that was to say men from the plough. In pursuance of his desire to get a passage home he applied for an American passport. There was difficulty at the time in obtaining American passports, so he took the advice of Mr. Kennedy and travelled on a British passport. Witness renewed his passport and left for Southampton. On returning from Scotland he went across America by the "Sunset" route. In San Francisco he again saw Mr. Deal. Witness then heard all about the Shipping Board. Several high officials had been dismissed. They had been accused of graft and "funny work." On returning to China witness did not resume the command of the "Chefoo". He was offered another ship, but the owners only offered $310 a month, which salary was not in accordance with the wages fixed by the Guild. There was also a chance of being mate on an American ship. At Hongkong he met Mr. Kirby. They had had a dispute together—a heated one. Kirby called witness a "downright loafer." He had resented it and struck Kirby.

After relating what happened in the U. S. Shipping Office in Shanghai, he said a warrant had been issued for his arrest. He wanted a British lawyer, but the American authorities said he could not have one in the U. S. Court. When handed the licence the prisoner absolutely denied that he had written anything on it, nor had he altered it in any way. He had never seen the signatures of the Inspectors anywhere else. He had not looked at the licence more than a dozen times.

QUESTIONS BY THE JURY.

At the afternoon session the examination in chief of the prisoner was resumed.

The foreman of the jury said there were one or two points on which he would like information. For instance there were discrepancies as regards the prisoner's date of birth. On his passport the date was 1882; on his certificate it was 1880; on his passport his birth place was given as Rotheray, Scotland; on his application to the Guild his birth place was given as New York.

His Lordship said the Crown Advocate would cross-examine on these points.

The foreman of the jury also asked a question relating to the evidence of Mr. Kirby, who said that he had written to the Inspectors at New York that was as far as the jury had been taken.

His Lordship said the reply was not admissible as evidence.

Mr. MacDonald said the figure 1882 was a mistake. Thomson did not know how it had arisen. It was a long time since the document had been filled in, but possibly it was an error. With regard to his birthplace, the prisoner said the application to the Guild was not in his writing with the exception possibly of the signature at the bottom.

Regarding the interview with Mr. Sly, prisoner at first said he did not wish to divulge the nature of the conversation.

Mr. MacDonald—Why did you refuse to sign the paper?

Thomson—I mislaid my certificate at that time and he wanted me to sign an affidavit that I lost my papers. I would not—I had my certificate and I found it subsequently. I lost it no less than three times. I declined to hand back the paper signed by Mr. Blackburn, but did do so afterwards.

Do you know anyone with a licence similar to your own?

Yes 11 or 12 people, but I do not wish to divulge their names. They are all British subjects.

ACCUSED CROSS-EXAMINED.

The Crown Advocate began his cross examination at half past two. After answering a number of questions concerning his handwriting, the prisoner was asked if he had ever been the second mate on the C.N.S. "Hsin Peking."

Thomson—I absolutely deny it. Butterfield & Swire's records will prove this.

Mr. Mossop—I know what the records of that company will prove. That is why I am asking this question.

The prisoner was handed the licence that is alleged to have been forged and another exhibit in his handwriting.

Mr. Mossop—Are not the words New York on both those documents Thomson—They are.

Mr. Mossop—Can you account for it?

Thomson—I cannot.

Referring to the visit to H. M. Consulate, Thomson said he first tried to see Sir Everard Fraser. Instead witness saw Mr. Blackburn who promised to make inquiries before granting the document stating that witness had been granted a certificate. Witness added that no certificate of the kind had ever been granted in New Zealand. It was all a mistake. He did not know why the words "extra master's" were put on the documents. He noticed that the paper handed him at the Shipping Office had extra master's certificate on it, but never gave the matter a thought. He knew that he was not entitled to a paper of that sort. He never asked about it; it was sent to him.

Mr. Mossop—Do you wish the jury to believe that Mr. Blackburn made up those words?

Answering further questions relating to the issuance of the document, Thomson said he would rather not say anything about the affair mentioning that he gave his word of honour to Sir Everard Fraser on this matter.

Mr. Mossop—You need not be afraid of saying whatever you like. We are quite capable of protecting the late Consul General.

THE QUESTION OF NATIONALITY. Regarding the naturalization paper, when witness received it he considered himself to be a genuine American citizen.

Re-examined by his counsel, Thomson said the question of his licence was taken up at a meeting of the Guild. A Captain Davis wondered how witness could have American papers and proposed to write to New York on the subject. In Scotland witness had

MRS PHILIP SNOWDEN AND GERMANYS TRAGEDY.

"The most tragic thing in Germany—and I think it is a European matter—is the condition of the intellectual classes," says Mrs. Philip Snowden in the Evening Standard on her return from Germany. "It is simply pitiful. They are too proud to beg."

Their incomes have not risen with the cost of living, and in order to live at all—and many of them are actually dying or committing suicide—they have to sell day by day some article of household furniture or some piece of jewellery.

"I think it is really too dreadful to think of the way in which brainy, educated people are being decimated in this fashion. I had a most sad letter from a Princess of the old regime in Vienna asking if I could collect money and old clothes for some of her titled friends who are in abject want."

also thought his American citizenship to be quite valid, but found out in Shanghai, from his solicitor, Mr. Davies, that he should have had first, second and third papers.

Answering his Lordship, witness said his reason for taking out American papers was because some one had suggested that he should do so. That was all.

The hearing, as stated above, was again adjourned.

PORT SAID.

Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson.

The officer who was shot on his own doorstep by ex active service men.

118 Kiddlees in one block.

They are grouped, you'll observe, to represent 118.

Pauletta Lomax.

Pauletta is presumably proud of her profile.

Mrs. Willard D. Straight.

Widow gives a million to Cornell University.

Miss Virginia Pearson.

This is not beautiful, though she thinks it is. It is too like a ham.

Miss Alice Taxton.

Lost her chance as a teacher because she would smoke cigarettes.

Albert Marshall.

This is the man who kidnapped his own wife, when she was avoiding him.

Col. Marcellus Thompson and sub-machine guns.

Prosecuted in America for gun-running for the Irish.

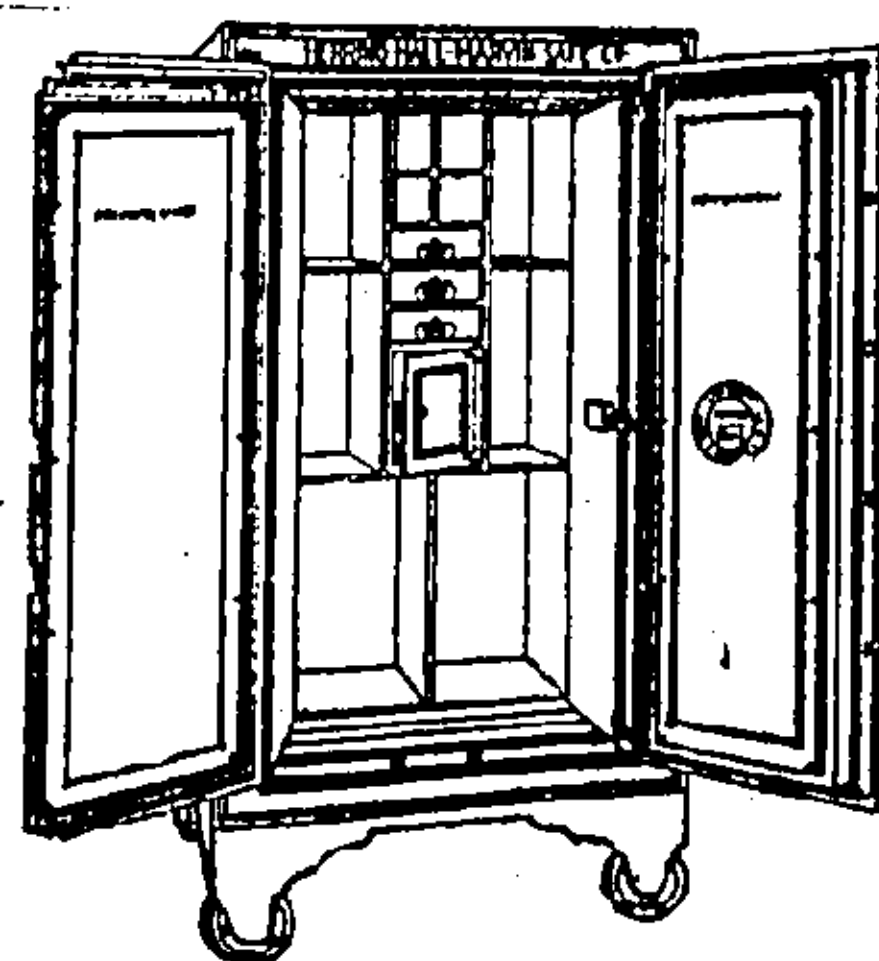

Miss Zenola Longstreth.

She is learned in the law.
